

1:20 detail sectional model of youth centre

- folded Corten steel sheet
- sheep wool insulation
- horizontal steel stud
- steel stud

Steel lattice beams and raking struts make up the permanent tectonic of the youth centre. Normally used temporarily during the excavation process where they act as propped cantilevers and retaining structures. Here they are used to create an enclosure whilst also receiving and counter acting the lateral forces of the soil.

1:20 detail section of youth centre

